TRSM GRADUATE STUDENT ASHLEY SCHROEDER WAS AWARDED THE GRADUATE STUDENT TEACHING AWARD

GAINESVILLE, FL — Graduate teaching assistants make a major contribution to teaching and learning at the University of Florida. Each academic year, the UF Graduate School recognizes the best, brightest and most industrious of the University of Florida’s graduate teaching assistants for their work as instructors in the classroom and laboratory. This year, Ashley Schroeder was selected as one of the best and brightest representing the Department of Tourism, Recreation and Sport Management for the first time.

The Department Chair, Dr. Michael Sagas nominated Ms. Schroeder during the Fall 2014 semester when she was teaching HFT 4743 Tourism and Hospitality Marketing. During the semester, she was evaluated twice by faculty reviewers on organization/content, instructional technique, instructor involvement and student involvement. Semi-finalists are chosen in the Fall and Spring semesters, with finalists being selected at the end of the Spring semester. Ms. Schroeder was one of eleven semi-finalists chosen from across the university during the Fall 2014 and was then selected as a finalist for the academic year.

We would like to congratulate Ms. Schroeder for her dedication to teaching excellence. She will be honored at a reception with other winners from other Departments campus-wide on Thursday, April 23rd at 3:30pm in the Friends of Music Room in the University Auditorium.

The Department of Tourism, Recreation and Sport Management is committed to national and international excellence in the generation, dissemination, and communication of knowledge in tourism, recreation and sport management.
